-The Arts District at Liberty Station's Ingram Plaza will transform into a sea of colors as local artists display artwork of all mediums-

SAN DIEGO – ArtWalk @ Liberty Station will return to Ingram Plaza for its 13th year on Saturday, August 11 and Sunday, August 12 in the Arts District at Liberty Station. The free event's 2018 theme "Connecting Creative Communities" embodies ArtWalk's mission to bring San Diego together to enjoy art and cultural expression all weekend long. In addition to thousands of works of art, attendees can also expect food, wine and beer, live entertainment and interactive art projects.

"ArtWalk @ Liberty Station returns to the heart of Liberty Station's Arts District to celebrate San Diego's local artistic talent as well as national and international artists for its 13th straight year," said Sandi Cottrell, ArtWalk San Diego director. "It's important to bring the community together to appreciate art, while offering artists a platform to share their passion. Attendees will also be able to experience the feeling of buying original pieces of art as well as creating art through interactive experiences to connect with their inner artist in a variety of fun artsy activities."

Artwork from over 200 international, national and local San Diego artists will surround the picturesque Ingram Plaza rose garden where attendees can view and purchase every medium of art including painting, sculpture, glass work, fine jewelry, photography and more. The festival will also include live music; KidsWalk, an interactive art area for families; street food options and a wine and beer pavilion benefitting ArtReach, a nonprofit that has provided free art classes to over 20,000 students who wouldn't normally have access to art programs in San Diego County.

ArtWalk @ Liberty Station will be held at Liberty Station's Ingram Plaza, 2751 Dewey Road, San Diego, CA 92106. The fine art festival will run from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. on August 11 and 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. on August 12 and attendance is free.
